

Ready for the air?

Safety in air sports: New air sports carabiner knowledgebase

Grab your gliders – ready – set – go! After a sheer endlessly long time at home, the measures to the Corona virus were eventually eased, which means finally going back into the air for all air enthusiasts!

While equipment like harness and glider are mostly checked and replaced on a regular basis, continuous use of the necessary air sports carabiners is not uncommon. A perfect time for us to provide some useful information concerning this topic and to give the poor relation of paragliding equipment a little more attention!

We talked to paragliding legend and AUSTRIALPIN team member Markus Gründhammer aka “Skyn” about the right handling regarding air sports carabiners. Find out more about the most important aspects as well as useful tips in our new knowledgebase.

Here is our knowledgebase!

Check it out, we are happy to get some feedback from you!

In this sense: Have fun reading, we wish you a happy air time and safe landings!
